What is Mediation

Mediation is a constructive alternative to traditional conflict resolution like litigation.

It begins with the mediator meeting each party privately to discuss concerns before a joint session to facilitate open dialogue.

The goal is to reach a mutually beneficial resolution and enhance future communication.

How Mediation Works

- Mediation offers an amicable alternative to litigation.
- Involves a neutral third party to facilitate communication.
- Encourages open dialogue and exploration of solutions.
- Saves time and money compared to court proceedings.
- Reduces emotional stress for all parties involved.
- Can strengthen relationships through collaboration.
- Allows for creative, flexible solutions.
- Agreements can be formalized into legally binding documents.
- Promotes a collaborative environment fostering peace and understanding

Advantages of Mediation

- Low Costs
- Fast resolution (appointments within weeks to begin)
- You control the resolution
- Less stress
- Communication is key for continuing a relationship
- Can withdraw from mediation at any time
- Participation is completely voluntary
- Confidentiality
